SEEK AND FIND

When it comes to reading, Johnnie Bernay is always ready when it's her turn. She's already found that books tell her many things she didn't know. Frank Cunningham seems to be good at arithmetic, while Kristy Burgess realizes that social studies is a fascinating subject. Audrey Larman gets a little help from Mrs. Kennedy on her writing lesson.

Sixth graders would rather try new ways to get an education, such as the Outdoor Education Workshop. Mark Richards and Greg Koch, eager to know the age of a particular tree, drill a hole in it so they can examine the wood. Donnie Ritter and Greg Duncan learned what it was like to be blind but didn't stumble when they followed the instructions of their guides, Rocky Jack and Julie Fitzpatrick.

The fourth grade toured the O.S.U. horticulture greenhouses and visited the O.S.U. police headquarters on their class trip last spring.

Rebekah Spaulding and Brian Clements didn't have to look very far to find Easter eggs. It was just a matter of getting there first.

GO TO WORK STOP TO PLAY

Each day at the grade school students spend their days learning new things, whether at work or play. Reading is one way we can do this. Second grader Sharla Padgett takes her turn reading aloud. (top left) Mike Hopkins and Geri Terry check out library books so they will have something to read. (bottom right) Acting out a play is one good way to learn about history. Susie Fishburn, Donnie Clements and the other third graders performed their version of Columbus's discovery of America. Working to finish his assignment is fourth grader Joe Day. (center) Shane Sears seems to be enjoying whatever he's doing. (lower left) Waiting for Miss Proudy to call on them in music class are Jonene Bode, Sarah Pfeiffer, and Sandy Terry.

Waiting for the bus after school is a fun part of the day. Hayley Schmiedbauer, Jill Hopfer, and Christine Anthis choose the minkey bars, but Brett Bowden, Casey Gorrell, Lance Leach, Bobby Priess, Jeff Roberts, and Chris Hopfer play a game of football. Matthew Kimbrough, Rosetta Bircket, and Michelle Ortega talk with Mrs. Daniels about how nice the weather is this fall. Michelle Priess ends her day with a smile.

NEW SHOW OLD ATTRACTION

The 1980 fall fairs take on new shape as we look on with Marty and Pam Henke and take a look at some of the new happenings.

We see Cindy Shipman at the cakewalk trying to resist the temptation of "piggin' out."

In the lower left we find John Jerome showing us how much work he does before showing his pigs.

Next to him we see Paul Richards in his black and gold T-shirt displaying Senior Spirit at the bingo stand.

Looking across the page, we cross over Darin Howard as he shows his incredible strength while unloading at the M-O fair.

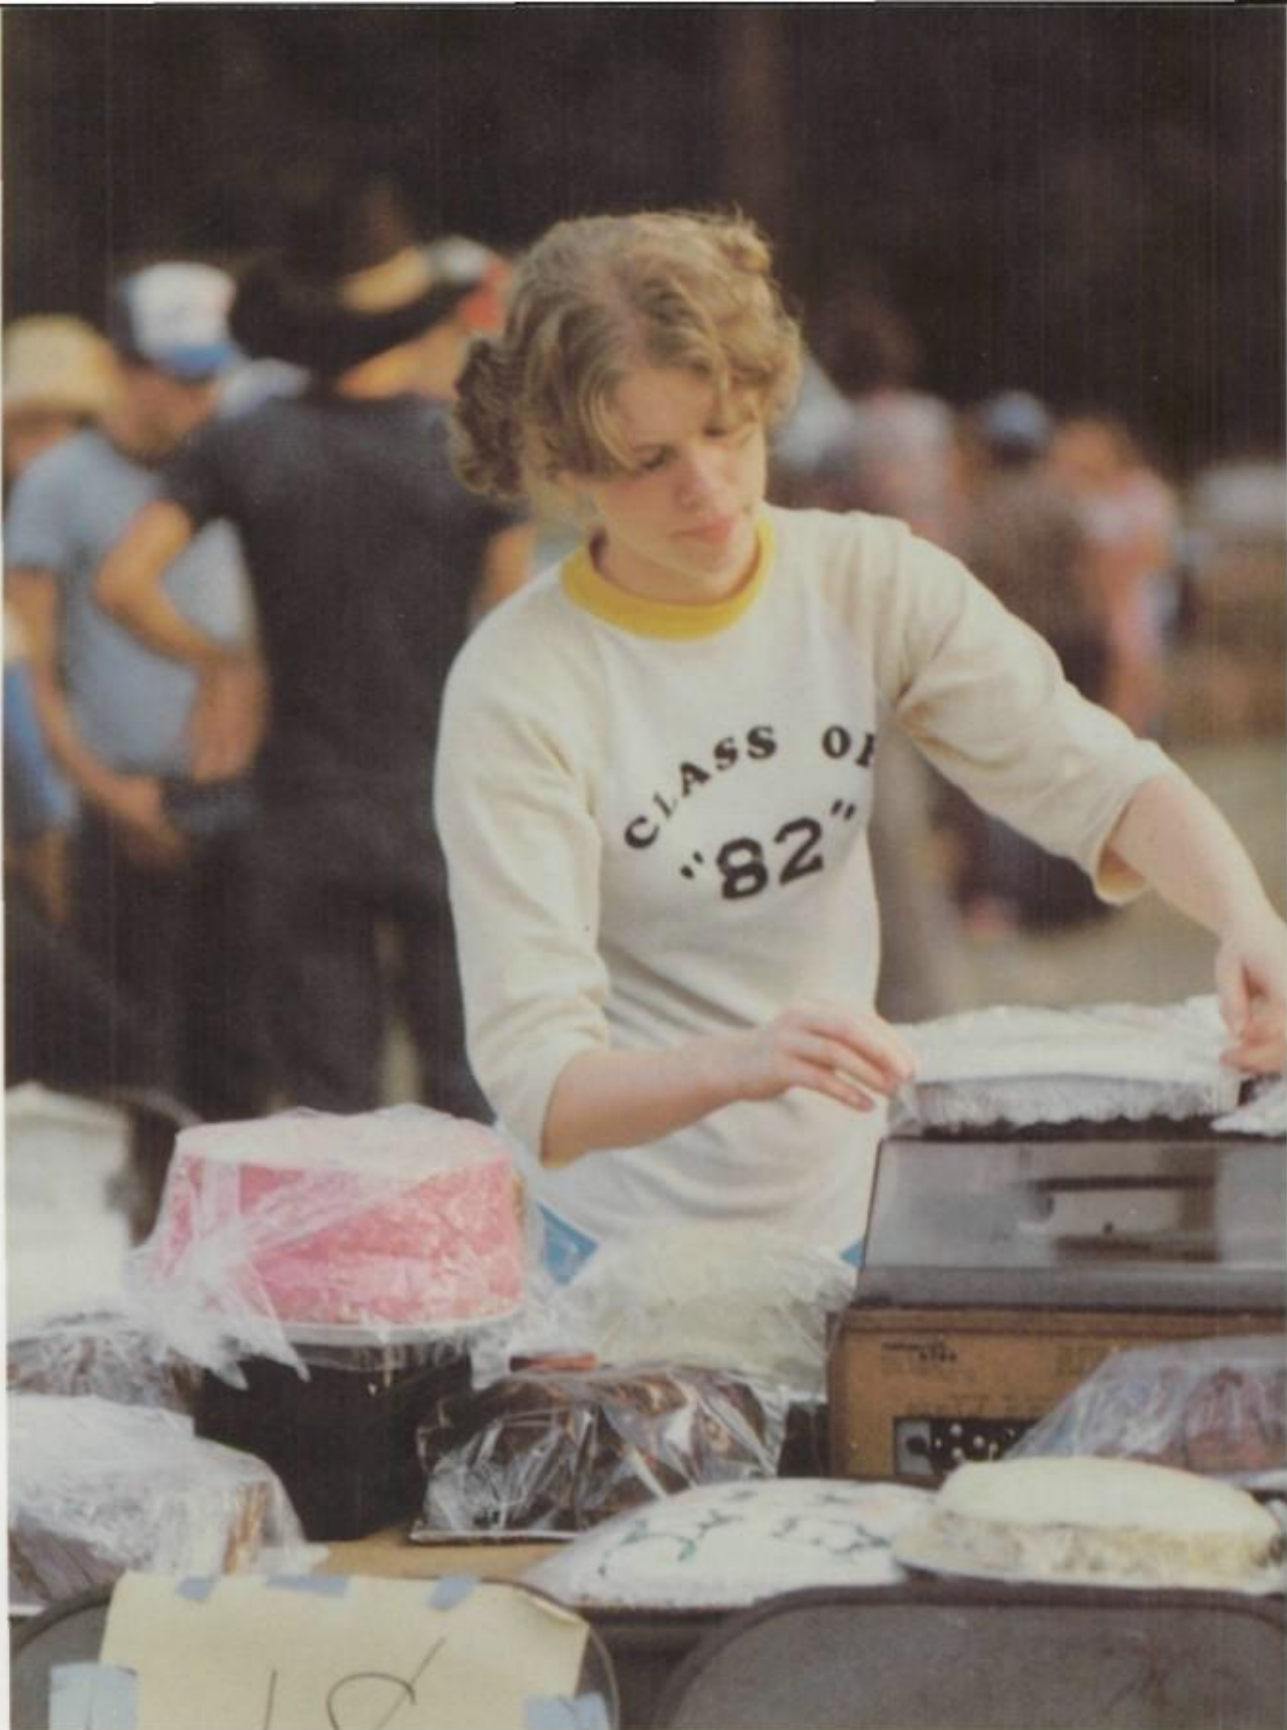

Now let's look at Bo Martin as he shows showmanship and pride in the first go-around of the horse show. This is the first year for the horse show at the M-O fair.

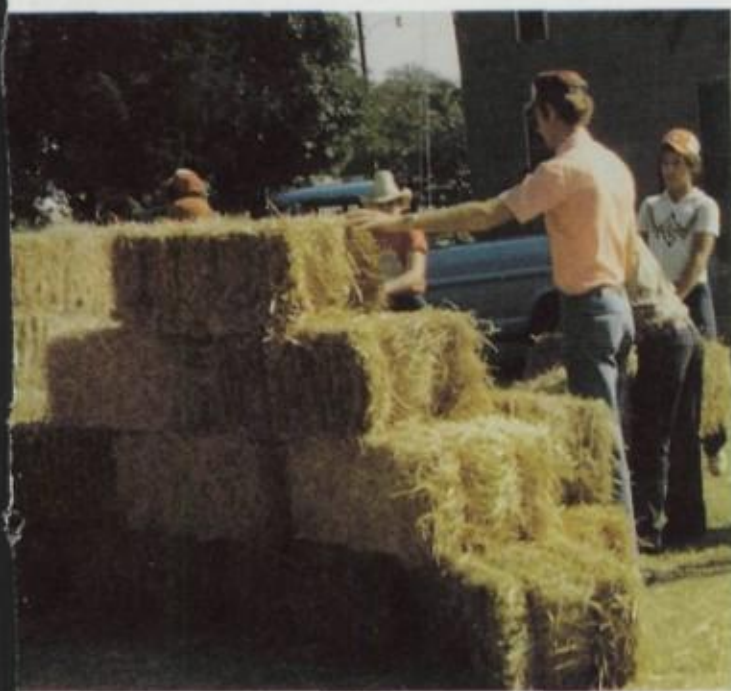

Dropping down, we see Mikki Leach set up his steer as Mr. Larman looks over the competition at Guthrie.

Looking left to right we see Mr. Snow helping Derek Mason as they get the baseball throw ready.

Next, Gayelea Orr shows us all how it's done by winning grand champion at the M-O horse show.

Last, but certainly not least, we come to Mike and Pat Gorrell as they show against each other at the Guthrie fair.

J. D. Spaulding prepares the dart throw for the night to come.

IN AND OUT OF CLASS

The students at M-O High have always known that it's fun outside of class but we have come to find out that it can be fun inside class, too.

Here we have David Thomason pretending to be Sitting Bull as he demonstrates archery for the speech class.

David Kolb learned how to dissect a grasshopper in botony and zoology.

Tom Nealis practices to be the next Willie Nelson of M-O High!

Kim Poston, like many of the other 7th graders is very enthusiastic about coming up to the high school.

We're all proud to see the progress that Guy Zimmer has made throughout the past two years.

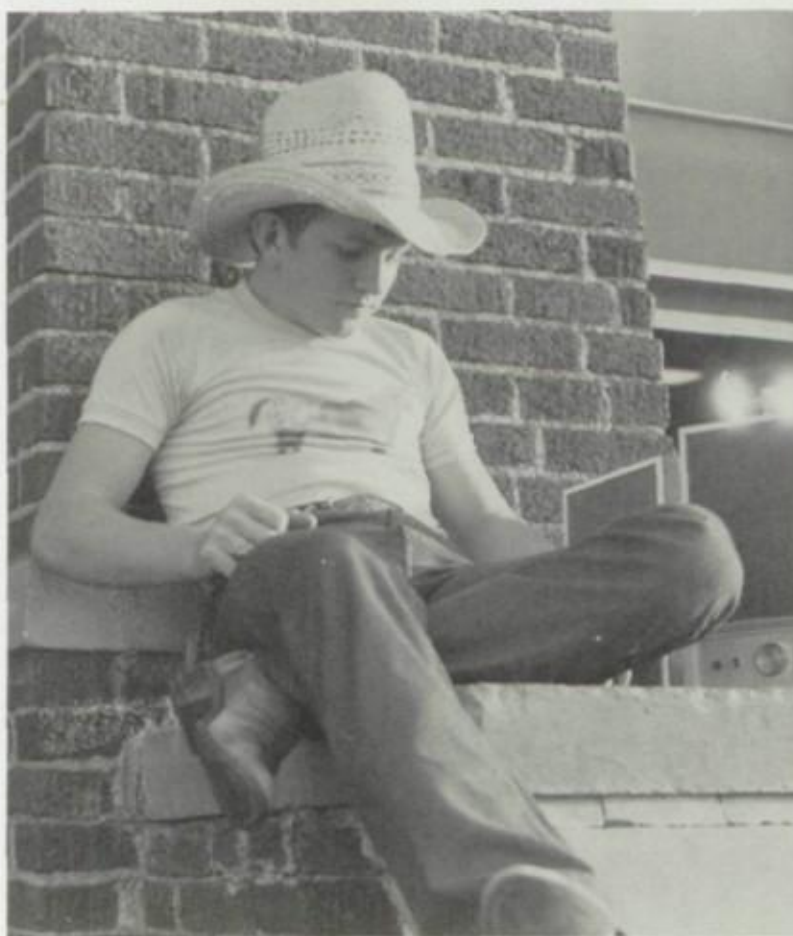

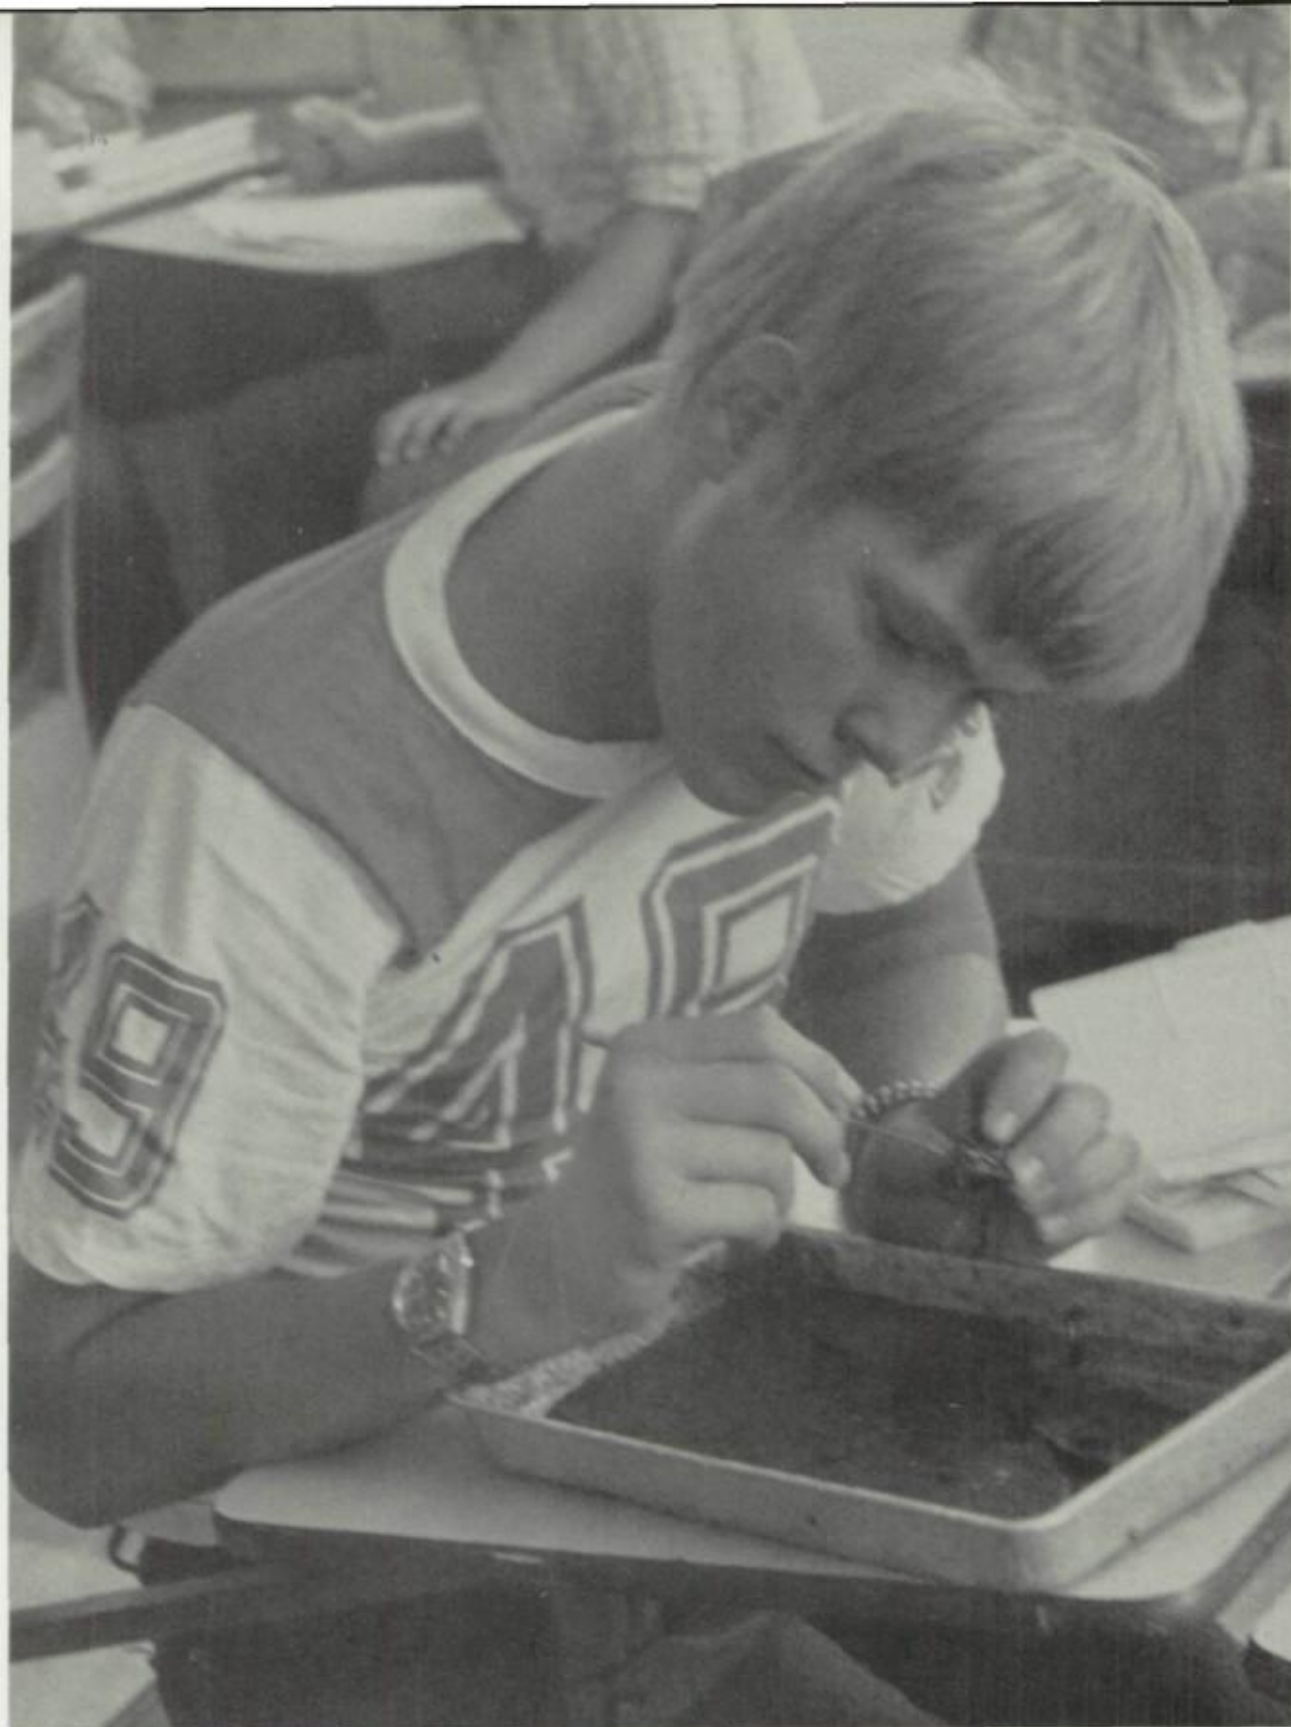

Mr. Toepfer lends a helping hand to Darin Snow in math.

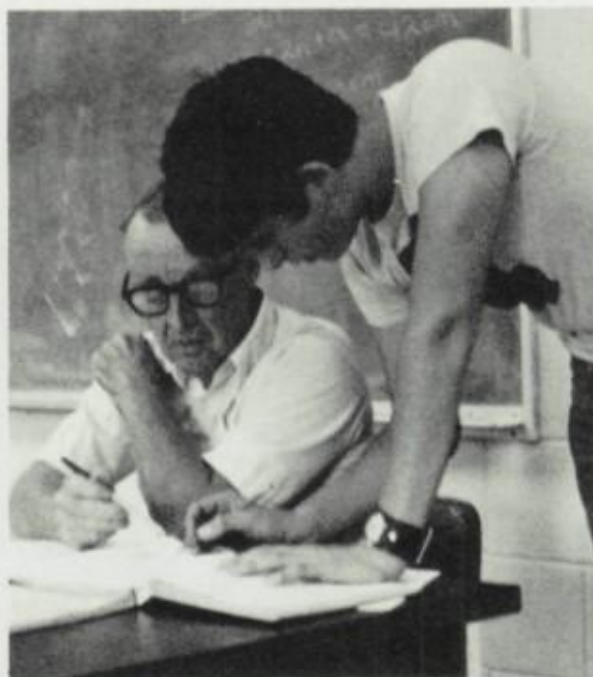

Ahhh! The beginning of another day at M.O.H.S.

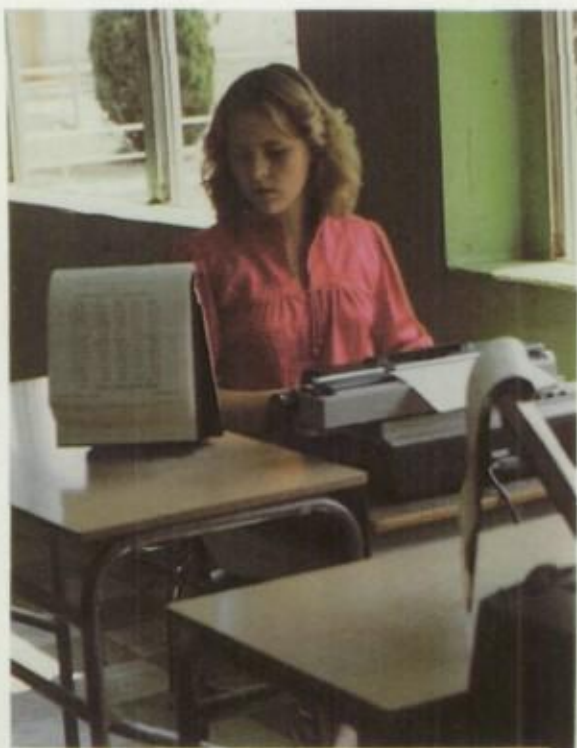

Explaining something to Terri Hunnicutt in Home Ec. class are JoVona Oldenburg and her new baby boy, Jason.

Buddy Martin and Mike Dickenson take it easy during lunch hour.

It's "chow time" in the cafeteria for Daniel Knott, Jed Kenaston, David Knott, and Micheal Weinkauf.

FUN FIRST WORK LATER

We believe that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. The students of M-O High prove this so in everyday activities.

Now Dora "Speedy Fingers" Graham can type her letters instead of writing them. (Who is the letter for???)

Judy Shook looks disgusted as Mike Frey learns how to prepare "Din-Din" for the annual mountain oyster fry.

Bob Henke pops another joke. Could it be about baseball??

Don't jump to conclusions!! That's just iced tea Lori Bode and Neda Endevoets are drinking at the Holiday Inn at Stillwater.

These are just a few of the good-looking rings the Junior class received this year.

Lisa Richards and Marsha McAnaly practice to be peanuckle champs of the school.

Jerry Kothe slides into second base as another one "bites the dust."

Jacque Meyer, Shelby Bay, and Gayelea Orr practice to be the Boogie Woogie Bugle girls from M-O High.

It's summer fun with the senior class on their last trip together. Of course we all know they were good little girls and boys on their Senior trip.

DEDICATION

The M-O yearbook staff dedicates the 1980-81 Panther to Marty Henke, an all-around nice person, fun to be with, and a big help to everyone. She sweeps floors, paints rooms, washes windows, mops floors when the roof leaks, etc. She does a fine job, we have to admit, keeping the school clean, not to mention mowing the lawns and driving buses.

The last two years at M-O High have been full of many fond memories. The Spring of 1980 brought our original version of "Desperate Ambrose". It was a wild and wacky western.

Tracy Klingaman and Deanna Hannah entertained us with the class prophecy for the class of 1980.

The beginning of our senior fund-raising year began with the local fair. Ann Villines and Gary Johnson, our sponsors, provided us with encouraging words throughout the year.

Senior pictures and the ordering of announcements brought along the highlights of every senior's year.

Our senior play was "For Heaven's Sake".

We wish to express our deepest gratitude to all of those who helped us throughout our days at M-O High.

The Friendliest Store In Town

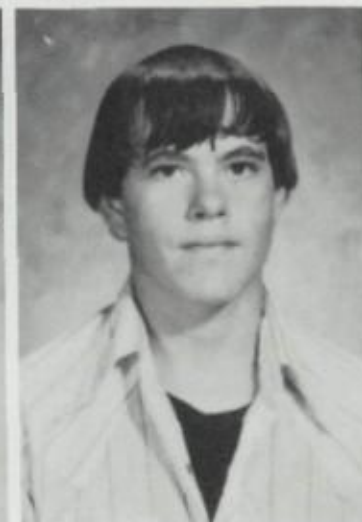

There was always something to do in fourth-hour shop class. Here Tim McNeil stops for a moment to change sandpaper on the sander so he can continue sanding out the rough spots on his project. The shop class made their projects straight from scratch. The wood had to be planed, ripped, glued together, and filled with plastic wood before they cut the shapes they wanted.

Joe Segura really worked hard in the shop class. Here he sands his bookshelf by hand, making sure it is smooth and ready to finish. After it is sanded evenly, he will stain it with his choice of wood stain and then varnish it. After the shop class learned how to build things from scratch, they refinished old furniture. We certainly have some skillful sophomores!

The English, history, and grade school band rooms were remodeled.

Mowing grass is a lot easier since the school now has a new tractor. Now Marty can get the job done a lot faster.

This fall the school installed a new gas tank near the high school. Since the tank is closer, it's easier to gas the buses.

Mr. Harris leans proudly by the new drivers' education car. This year the school bought the car instead of leasing it.

FIFTH GRADE

In science, the fifth graders learned all about animals. Using the overhead projector helps them see and learn all about the animals they are studying. Eddie Betchan, Rodney Silvers, Janet Weinkauff, and Daryl Snow, along with the other fifth graders, are using it to study birds and their claws.

Stacey Sylvester, Dennis Knott, and Shelley Schmiedbauer receive their report cards from Mrs. White. From the looks of things, it seems they made pretty good grades.

In math they studied the marvels of multiplication — with two and three digits — before going into division.

The fourth grade also studied a drug abuse booklet. They had to learn a poem on drug abuse and present it to another class. This was fun.

They also studied bicycle safety. Each one of them made a poster about a certain caption. The posters were sent to a company which made a filmstrip of them. The class used the filmstrip to put on a show called "The Safest Show on Earth."

In Mrs. Spaulding's class some of her students have kept to a "reading contract" agreeing to read for 15 minutes a night. Rosetta Bircket, Dennis Bussard, Johnathan Haggard, Christy Prince, Susie Fishburn, Charlotte Jones, Angel Brewer, Johnnie Mae Bernay, Roland Taylor, Jill Hopfer, Amy Leach, Donnie Clements, and Paul Fagan pick out books to read that evening at home.

Kindergarten is probably most remembered as a student's first year of school work, and it is a lot of fun too. Timothy Taylor and Ryan Wiss play with the wooden train during playtime. While playing "house" in their miniature kitchen, Emily Driskel and Hayden Fitzpatrick patiently wait for Jennifer Jenkins to pour their tea. After playtime each person has the responsibility of picking up his own toys.

The kindergarten class squeezes many activities into a half day at school such as learning the alphabet, learning how to spell words, or memorizing telephone numbers and addresses. But one of the most important things in the life of a kindergartener is making new friends and having fun with them during playtime.

Kelly Hopfer leads the M-O Roundup Club in the Perry parade.

Shirley Jerome helps Greg Koch and Brett Bowden in the fair barn kitchen during the M-O fair. The kitchen has been remodeled by the community mothers this year, and it looks really great!

This year's Christmas program theme was "We Wish You a Merry Christmas." Here Miss Prouty directs the first grade singers as they sing "Bein' Good."

The Mulhall-Orlando 10-and-under baseball team had a record of 12-5. They also won the Class B state tournament. In order to win the title, they had to win five straight games in the tournament. Each player received an individual trophy and as a team they got a large trophy, which is in the grade school trophy case.

Spirit played an important part in the pep rallies this year, and everyone seemed to have a lot of spirit when it came to class competition, competing in skits, and dressing up during homecoming week. Here are just a few of the many things that went on during pep rallies and at homecoming.

The teams made their lines as they awaited the crowning of the queen.

Our 1980-81 M-O cheerleaders and mascots were: Desiree Bowden, Gayelea Orr, Gina Schmiedbauer, Kathy Edgar, Shelly Jones, Kenda Klingaman, and Deanna Hannah.

The sophomores showed us their spirit as Scott Schoepflin played Marty and Pat Gorrell played a cook while participating in one of the skits during a pep rally. Sharrie Jerome showed her class spirit as she worked to win first place in the balloon race.

It's pie time, and this year's winners were the juniors. The honors of putting the pies in Mrs. Nelson's and Mrs. Shelton's faces were done by Shelia Frey and Kathy Edgar.

Sleeping beauties? Hardly, but this was part of a skit where the starters on the boys basketball team wore the sleepwear of the girls basketball team.

Mrs. Shelton played an important role in helping out the cheerleaders this year, whether it was ordering new pompons, selling pins, or helping with homecoming.

Panther trophies

Tracy Klingaman surprises Ripley with a blocked shot during homecoming.

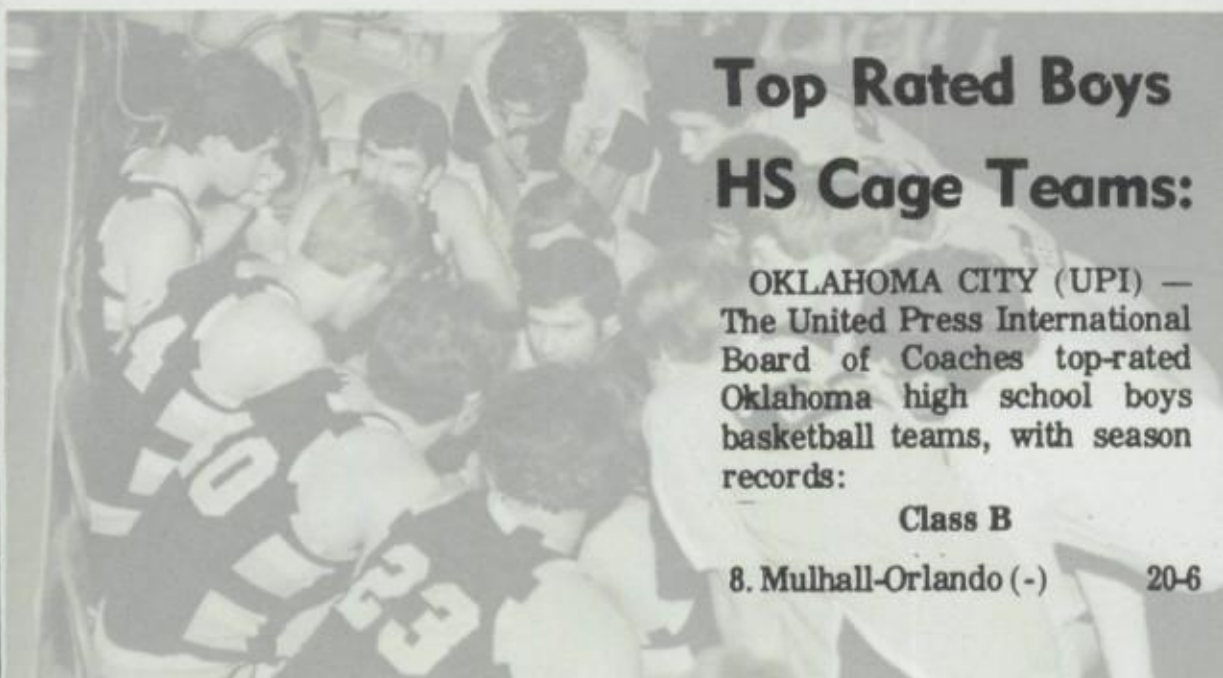

Mikki brings the ball down.

The Panthers proved to be real champions this year by beating out Dover and Lahoma in district play and capturing "the wagon." In the regional tournament they played against Lomega, Kremlin, and Helena-Goltry to take the consolation crown, thus advancing into the area tournament where they played Graham.

Congratulations to Coach Johnson and the team for doing such a great job this year.

M-O FHA MAKES THINGS HAPPEN

SWEETHEART

The FFA officers and Sweetheart went to the National FFA Convention at Kansas City.

Five of the officers are running for State Farmer. They are: John Thomason, Mike Frey, Mikki Leach, Mike Gorrell, and Tracy Klingaman.

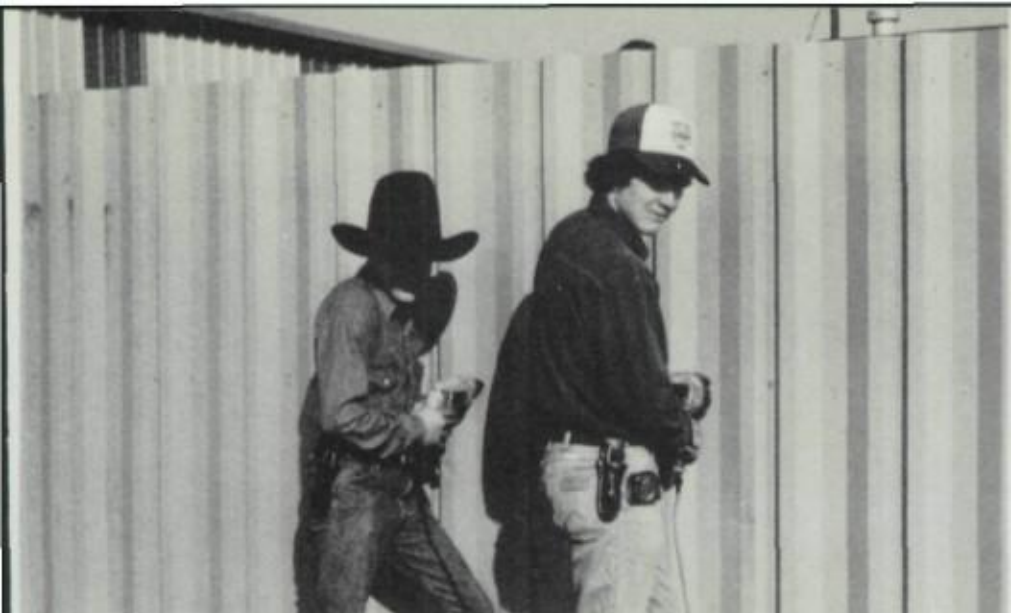

HARD WORK FOR THE FUTURE

Mike Frey is giving the chapter accomplishments at the 1980 Annual FFA Banquet.

As you can see, being in FFA is a lot of hard work. You have to keep your projects up to date. Sometimes you suffer heartaches, like your combine breaks down in the middle of harvest time, or your wheat gets blown down by a thunderstorm, or you work extra hard to get your calf ready for show and then the judge doesn't like him.

Paul Richards is working on a combine. John Thomason is looking at his wheat. Mikki Leach, Tracy Klingaman, and Troy Klingaman are getting a calf ready for show.

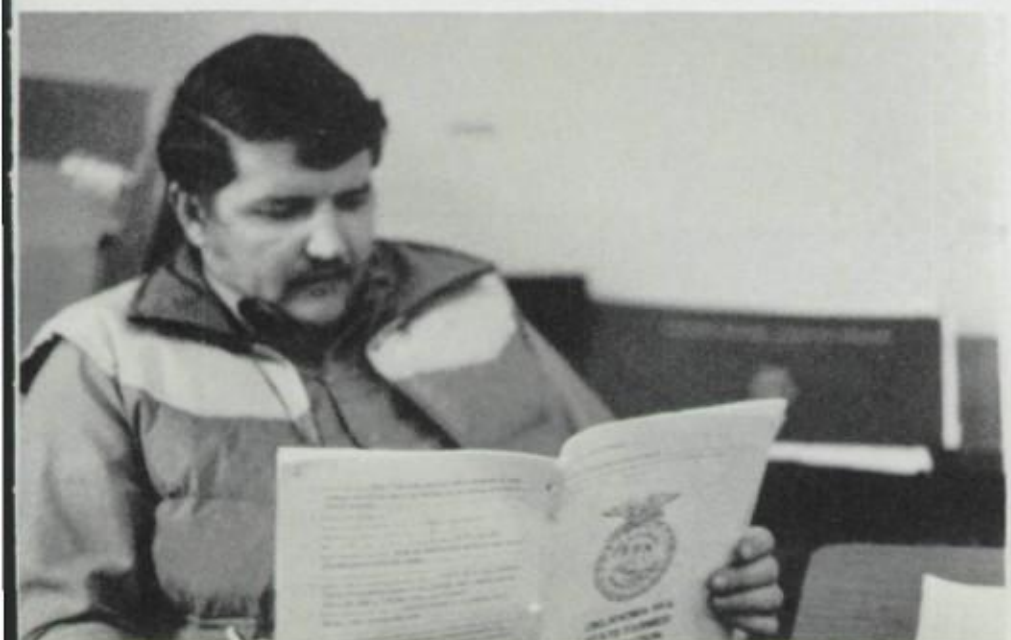

Gary C. and Joe J. working on fence behind Vo-Ag room.

Mikki Leach being sold at FFA slave sale.

Mr. Larman working on the State Farmer applications.

Pat Gorrell showing his pig at the Guthrie Fair.

Sean Keith really plays out on his baritone.

Only part of the M-O High School Band.

HARD WORKS PAYS OFF

The year book class definitely does not goof off (all that much). At the top, Kathy E., Shelia, Scott, Cindy, Mitchell, and Rhonda work hard to meet a yearbook deadline.

4-H — that's the Key! It's the key to doing many things. Here are a few of our 4-H people doing their thing. Kyla Huff, Christy Cyphers, and Gina Koch pet a rabbit to wish it good luck on winning a ribbon. Scott Bulling showed his heifer at Tulsa this year and won Champion Heifer.

Thinking back, remembering the year,
Parties and fun,
Oh yes, we remember clear.

Getting our first car, going to shows,
Where does all the time go?
No one knows!

Going to dances, running wild,
Wearing the clothes that were in style.

Studying books, and working hard,
Some happy, some sad,
About their report card.

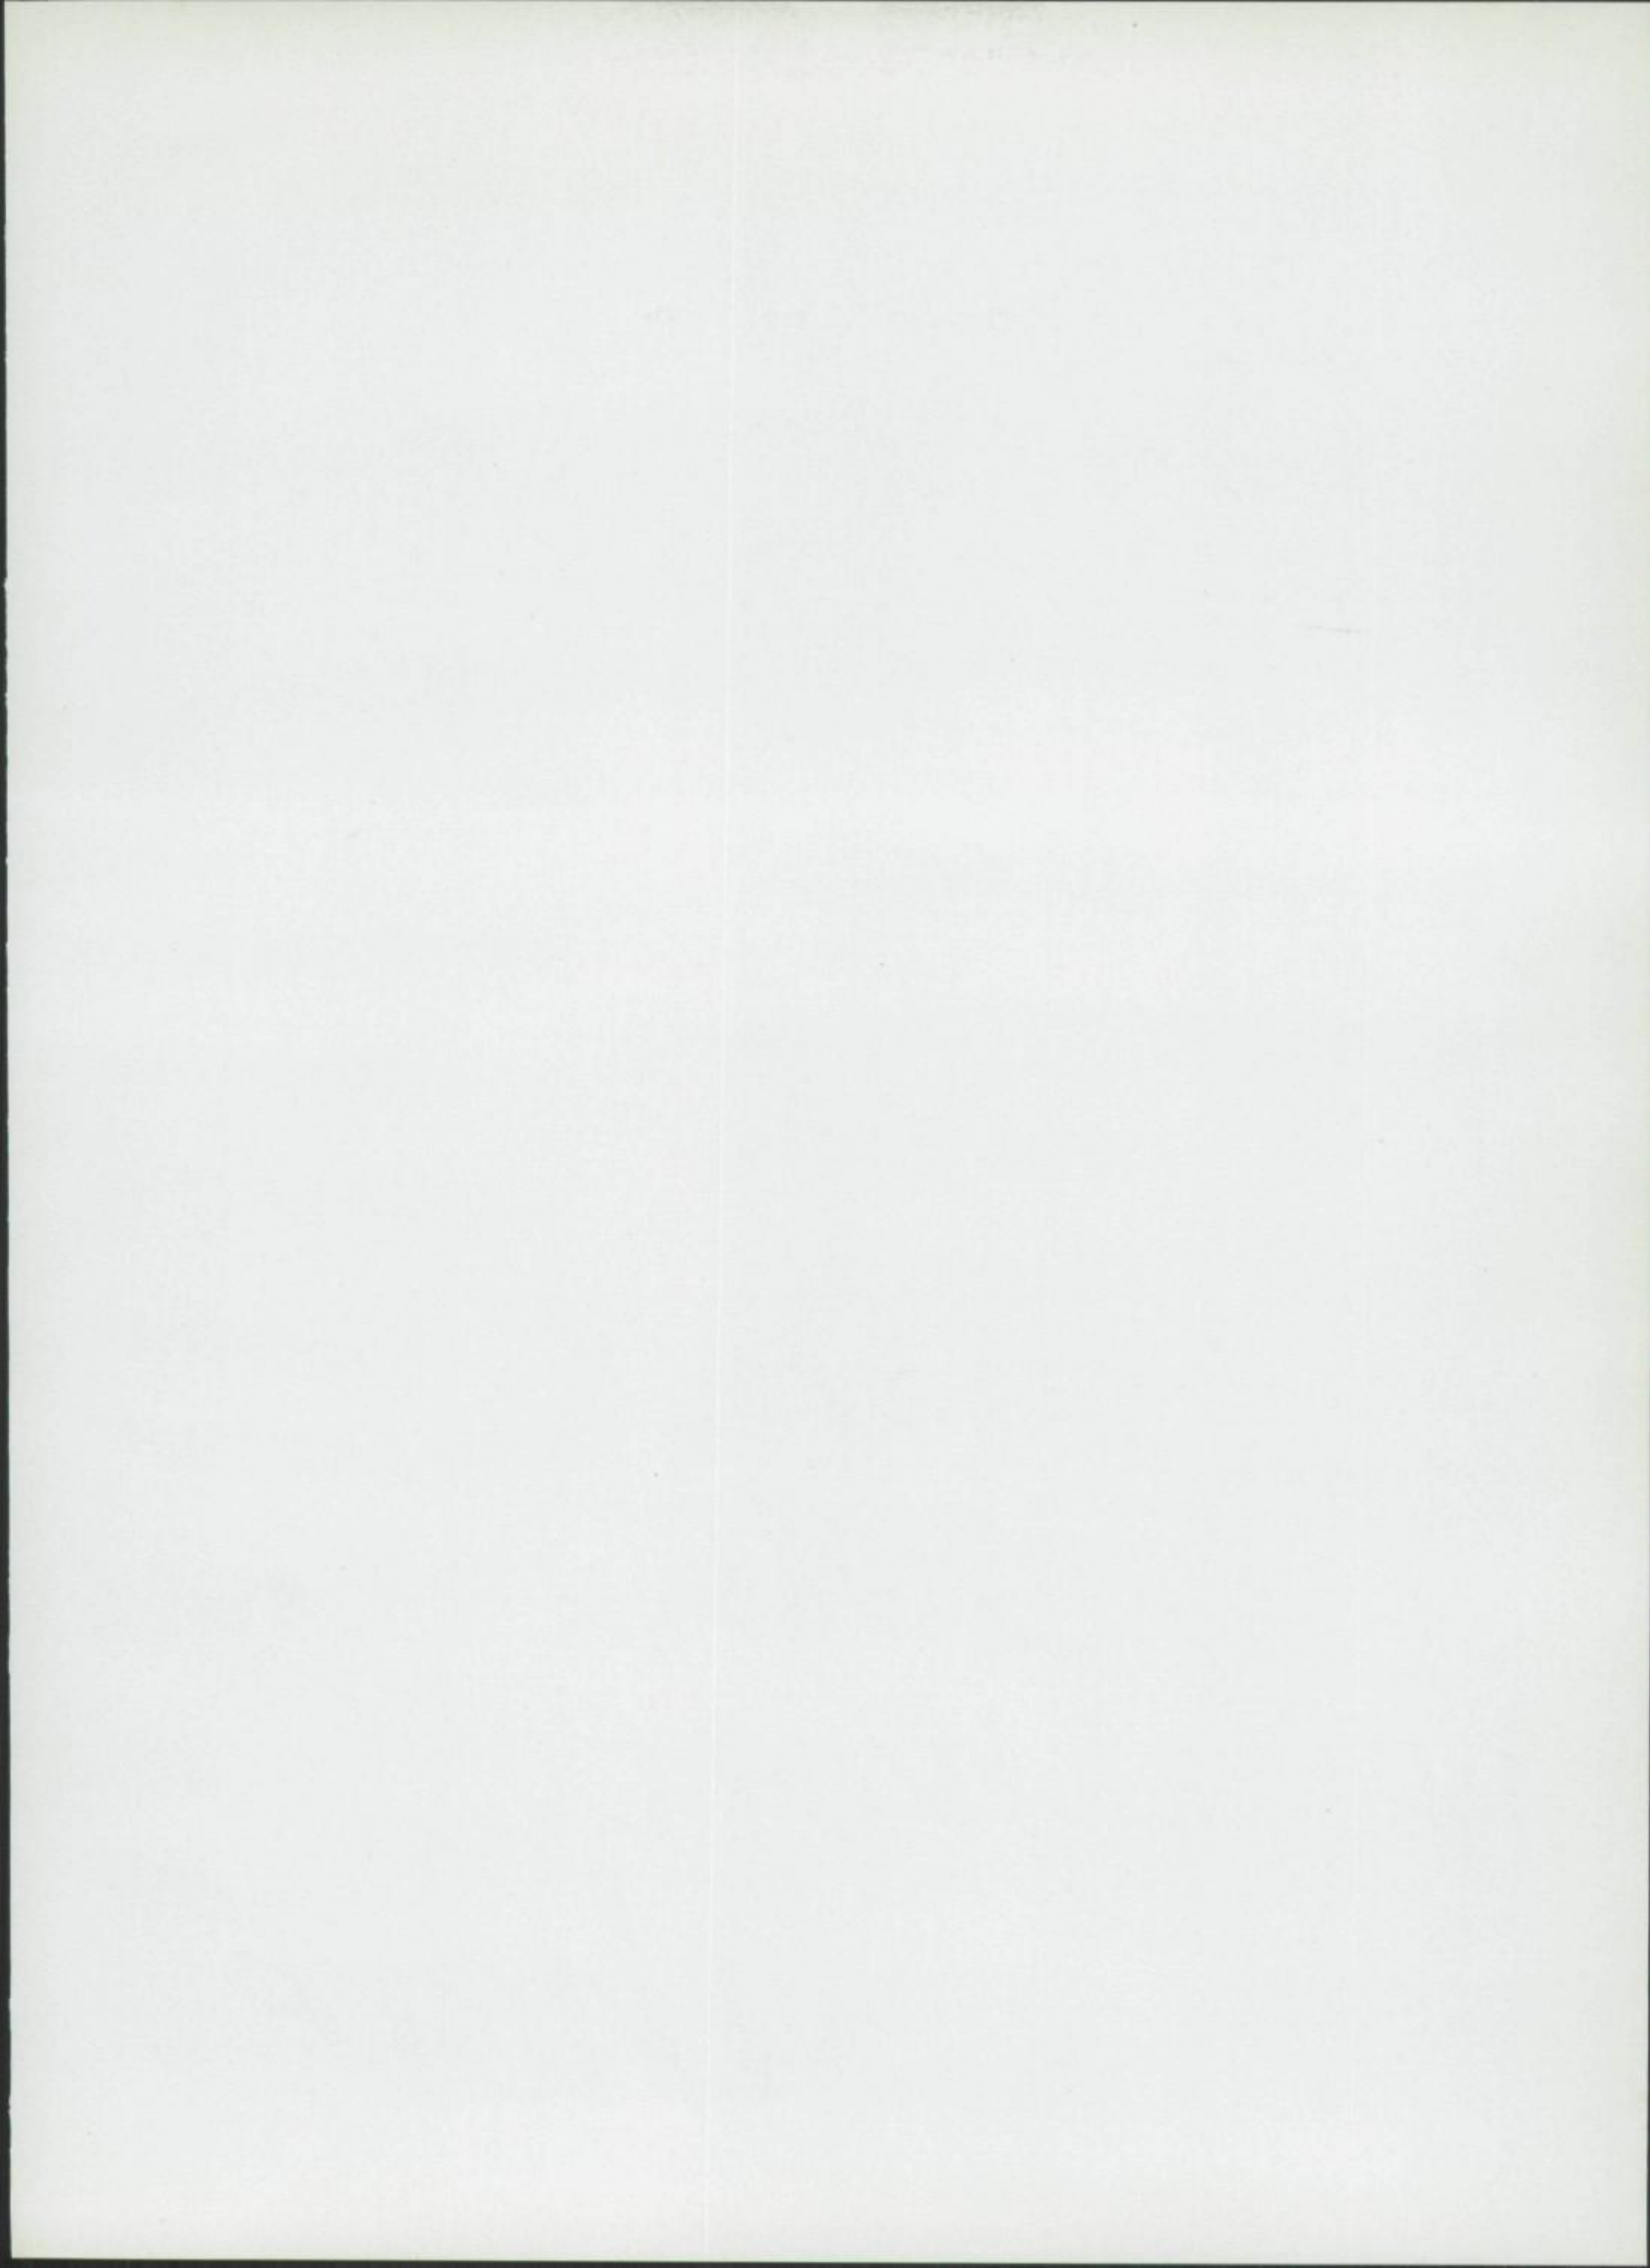

Home by ten, asleep by eleven,
Up in the morning for school at seven.

Graduation comes at last,
We reminisce about the past.

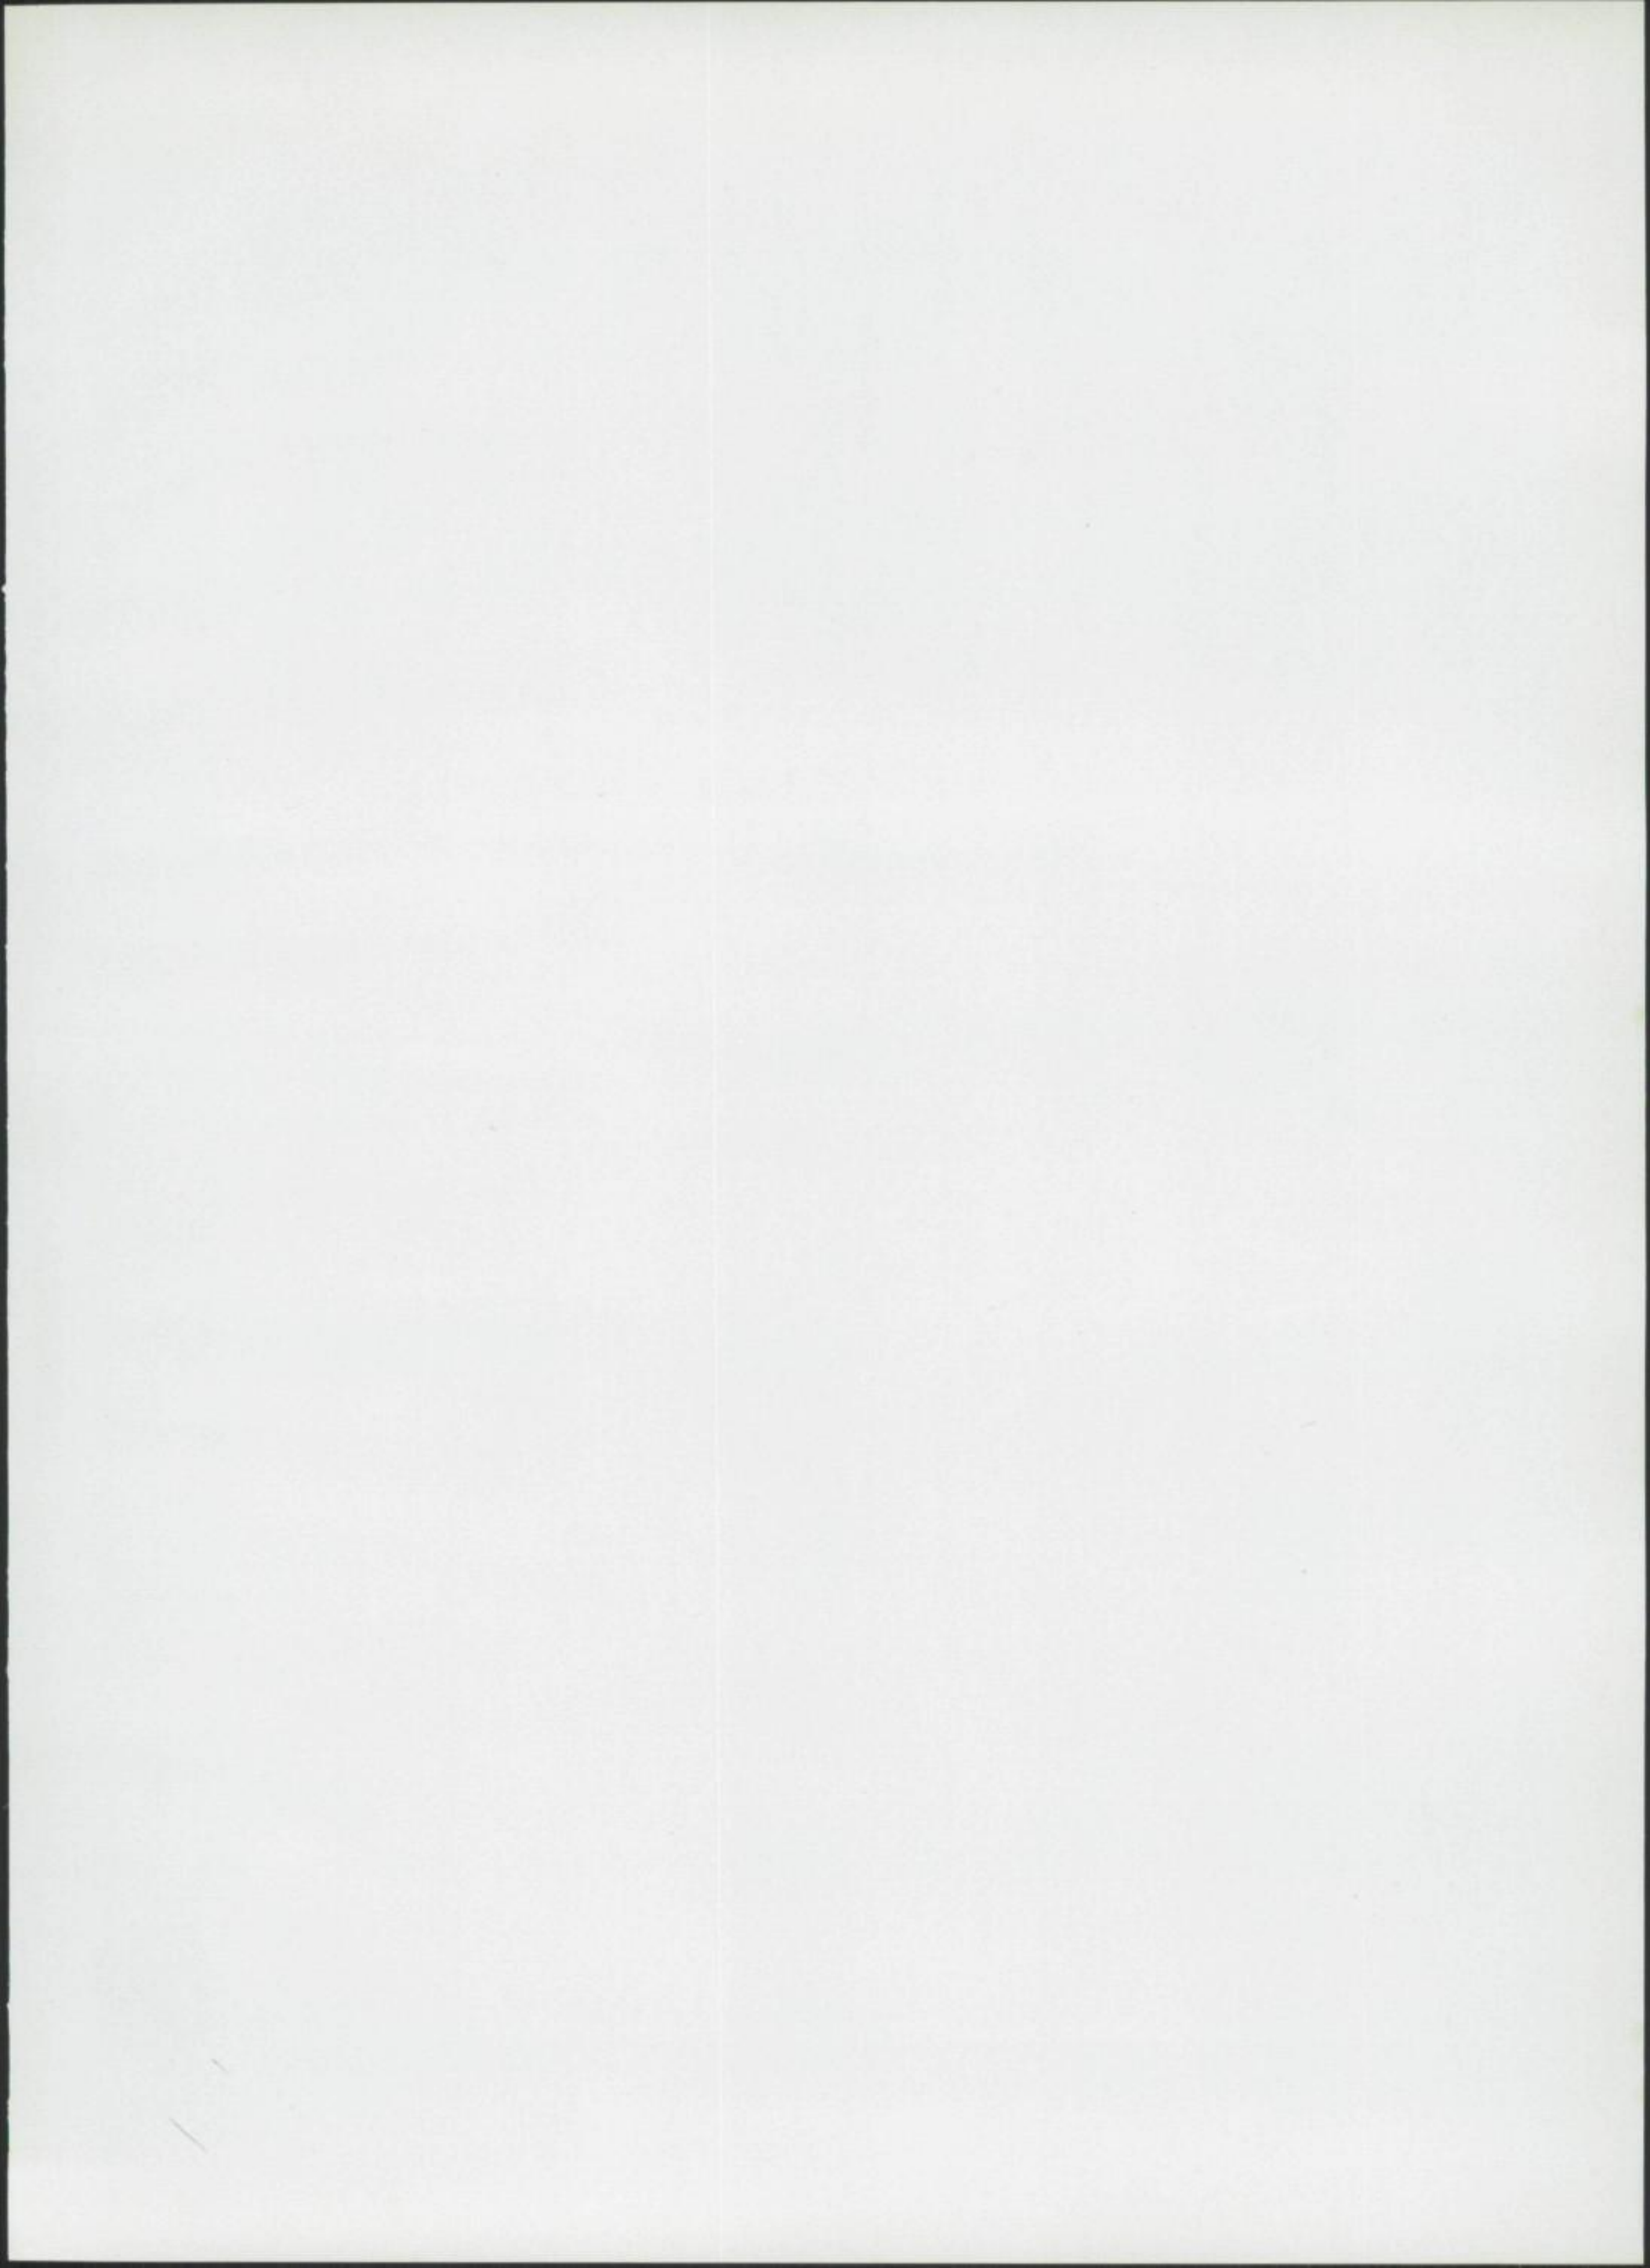

Those memories we will always share.....
Just think.....
